

If not now, when?

When will we be ourselves?

When will we be who we truly are? Not who the world wants us to be.

When will we tell the truth?

When will we stop the artificial concern? Genuinely care for those around us.

When will we repair the world?

When will we give תיקון עולם (Tikkun Olam)? Make an impact on this planet.

When will we accept others for who they are?

When will we stop tolerating and start accepting? No judgment.

When will we think?

When will we contemplate what we are doing before we spread these words of hate?

לשון הרע (Lashon hara) will become an idea of the past.

When will we appreciate?

When will we stop asking for more and cherish what we have? Give thanks to those we love.

When will we be courageous?

When will we unfold the mystery of life? Dare the adventures in this world.

When will we take charge in our life?

When we make our dreams a reality? Do whatever our heart desires.

When?

Now is the time and here is the place.
